

FARMERS' 'BLOC' WILL STAND PAT

Capper, Kenyon and Other Western Senators in Defy to Enemies

CRITICISM HELPED OUT

Only Served to Solidify Them, Upper Solons Say; Capper Lauds Harding Policy

By J. HART CAMPBELL, Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The "agricultural bloc" is going to stick. This was the answer today by Senator Kenyon of Iowa, Senator Capper of Kansas, McNary, Oregon, and other republican senators from western states to recent criticisms of the "bloc's" activities.

It is echoed by Kendrick of Wyoming, Smith of South Carolina and other democratic senators from the east and south also prominently identified with the "bloc."

Attacks only strengthened it. Attacks on the "bloc" have served to solidify its representation, and democratic membership in the senate and house and to strengthen the organized movement to assist the farmer to find a profitable market for his products and the consumer to purchase those products at a lower cost without either having to pay tribute to the middle man, it was stated.

Backed by the "bloc" pending legislation providing for the appointment of a "dirt farmer" on the federal reserve board, will pass, it was predicted, and the farmer will eventually be given more flexible personal credit accommodations and a banking system commensurate with his financial needs.

Kenyon and Capper lead. Resumption of the fight over this legislation in the senate today found Kenyon and Capper leading the demonstration in face of opposition by Senator McLean, republican of Connecticut, chairman of the senate banking and currency committee, and other eastern senators.

McLean contended that President Harding was already empowered to appoint a representative of the agricultural interests on the federal reserve board without being directed by congress to do so, as provided by the amendment to the pending bill offered by Senator Smith.

McLean was supported by Senator Edges, republican of New Jersey, who said if the Smith amendment were to be adopted, he saw no reason why he should not offer one providing for the appointment of a manufacturer on the board to represent the manufacturers' interests.

Compliments Harding. Capper declared that the country should rejoice at this time that it has a "president" so wide awake to the needs of agriculture as President Harding, and that the president's recent message to congress was an impressive statement of agricultural requirements, as well as an endorsement of the farm bloc's program.

"The farm bloc is not attempting bulldozing methods to obtain legislation but is doing its best to get needed things done, and as well as speedily as possible," Capper added. "The farmer is still in need of the government's best attention. He must have relief of the unusual price level which has been the source of his greatest discouragement. He must have still further reduction in freight rates as industry and commerce has felt keenly the paralyzing influence of the excessive freight charges. Then, too, he must be given more flexible credit accommodations and a banking system adequate to rural needs."

SETTLEMENT PROMPT

Atlas Life Insurance Company Pays $5 Hours After Husband's Death.

The sudden taking away of Harry H. Aurandt coincident with the wave of lawlessness that seems to be nation wide in its scope, serves to give color to the expression that "in the midst of life we are in death."

Grievous as are the details of his deplorable, untimely demise there is solace to be found in the fact that he made what provision he could make for his family, by availing himself of the opportunity open to most of us; namely, the purchase of life insurance.

When Aurandt a little more than a year ago decided to let the Atlas Life Insurance Company insure his life he evidenced his faith in Tulsa and its institutions by becoming a policyholder since its organization.

In making settlement in full to the widow of the deceased in less than 24 hours, the Atlas company makes no claim for doing anything unusual, but merely demonstrates to the citizenry of Tulsa and environs what its speedy settlements have done in various places throughout Missouri, Kansas, Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma, the states in which it is active.

An outstanding proof of the solidity of this Tulsa institution is the 12-story office building home which it is now erecting on Boston avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets.
